Preparing your CV

Your Curriculum Vitae (CV) should give a clear summary of your education, work experience, achievements and abilities. An employer will decide whether to interview you based on your CV.

What goes into a CV?

- Your name, address, email and phone number.
- A personal profile – this is a short paragraph giving the highlights of your qualifications, experience, specific skills and abilities. (More on personal profiles on page 4).
- Positions you have held, starting with your most recent job. Include the company names and addresses and the dates you worked for each employer.
- Relevant experience – describe your specific duties and responsibilities in bulletpoint format. Make sure the experience you describe is relevant to the job you are applying for.
- Any certificates or specific skills you may have such as computer skills (for example, Word or Excel), a clean driving licence and so on.
- Any significant achievements (these could relate to sports, arts, fund-raising for charities – anything that shows you have worked to reach a goal).
- Any voluntary or community work you may have done.
- Names of referees and contact details. If you prefer, you could simply say 'References Available on Request'.

Preparing your CV

Does layout matter?

Yes. Your CV should look attractive. It should be easy to read, well spaced and no more than two pages.

Put headings, qualifications, names of employers and positions held in bold print to highlight them.

Use the same font and size throughout. For example, this booklet uses the Arial font with the main text in 12 point size and the headings in 14 point.

Make sure there are no spelling mistakes.

Should I include a Personal Profile?

A personal profile is a short paragraph that goes near the top of your CV. It tells the interviewer at a glance what you have to offer and what type of position you are interested in. If you are applying for different jobs, you can adapt your CV to suit the jobs concerned.

Think of the personal profile as a way to sell yourself to a prospective employer. Use positive key words to emphasise your experience, skills or abilities.

What if there are gaps in my employment?

If there are gaps in your employment history, try to give positive details of how you used your time during the gaps. For example, you may have taken a year out to travel, worked as a volunteer on a particular project, returned to college to study, and so on. It's best if you can give good reasons for the gaps rather than leave questions for the reader.

Filling out an application form

Some employers prefer you to fill out an application form either instead of, or as well as, sending in your CV.

- Read through the whole form and the instructions before filling in any sections.
- It's a good idea to write the questions and your answers on a sheet of paper first. This way you can correct any mistakes you might make before you fill in the form.
- Follow any instructions on the form such as using black ink or writing in block capitals only.
- Answer all parts of every question. If the question does not apply to you, write 'not applicable' or 'N/A'.
- Write clearly so the reader can understand your answers.
- Check spellings, punctuation and grammar.
- Read the completed form again before you send it to make sure you have answered all the questions.
- Keep a copy of the completed application form so you can look at it before an interview.

Writing a cover letter

A cover letter is the letter you send with your CV. It should give the reason you are applying for the job and – briefly – your qualifications and relevant experience. There could be many people applying for the same job so your cover letter is an opportunity to make your application stand out from the rest. Your letter should make an employer want to consider you for the job.

Do you really need a cover letter?

Yes. Your cover letter is your first opportunity to introduce yourself as a possible candidate for the job.

Can I send the same letter with every job application?

This is not a good idea. Anyone can send a standard cover letter and hope for the best, but you have a much better chance of being considered for an interview if you show you are really serious about working for the company. Do some research. Look up the company's website to find out more about the business. Say why you are interested in working for that particular company. Address your letter to a specific person whenever possible and make sure to spell names correctly.

What should I say in my cover letter?

Be concise and stick to relevant facts. Say which job you are applying for and why your experience makes you a good fit for the position. Refer to the areas of your CV that match the job requirements (that is, your qualifications and relevant experience). Cover letters should be clear and to the point. Keep the letter to one page if possible but definitely no longer than two pages.

How can I make my application stand out?

Highlight your strengths. Prospective employers want to know why they should consider you for this position above anyone else. Mention anything you achieved in your current or most recent jobs that would impress an employer such as increased sales by 25%, reduced costs by 10%, reduced absenteeism by 5%, and so on. Show how your skills, talents and experience would be a valuable addition to the company.

Writing a cover letter

Is it okay to ask about salary?

Only mention your salary requirements in your cover letter if a prospective employer asks for them. It is best to leave salary discussions until an interview.

How should I end the letter?

Be proactive. Say that you look forward to hearing from the employer and that you are available for interview whenever suits them. Give your email, home, work and mobile numbers and make sure you are available. Keep your phone close to hand and check your emails regularly.

Developing your Job Interview Skills

An interview is your chance to sell yourself to a prospective employer. Prepare well and stay calm.

Before the interview

- Be clear about why you want the job and make sure you understand the job description.
- Research the company so you can show a good knowledge of what the company does.
- Know your CV. It creates a bad impression if you're not able to elaborate on qualifications, interests and experience.
- Dress suitably. Presentation is very important.
- Arrive at least 15 minutes early.
- Take the interview seriously no matter how informal it may seem.

At the interview - do's

- Make eye contact with the interviewer(s) and greet them politely.
- Concentrate on the question being asked and answer it carefully. Direct your answers to the whole panel if it is a panel interview.
- Stress your experience, strengths, achievements and qualifications, but make sure to relate them to relevant questions. Give examples and remember to include skills that you gained outside paid work.
- Be honest about why you want the job. If you are leaving a job, be positive about the reasons for your decisions.
- Try to present your weaknesses as strengths. Focus on the positive.
 - If you need time to think about your answer, say so and take the time. If you're not sure of the meaning of a question, ask for clarification.
 - Have your own questions ready to ask. Your questions should show your interest in the role.
 - If your questions are answered during the interview and you can't think of any more to ask at the end of the interview, simply say "I think you have covered all things that I wanted to know".

Developing your Job Interview Skills

At the interview – don'ts

- Don't ramble or talk about things that are not relevant.
- Don't make up an answer. If you don't know the answer to a question, say so.
- Don't rely solely on your CV to do all the talking – tell them what you'd like them to know about you. Also, don't give one-word or very brief answers. This is your chance to sell yourself.
- Don't criticise colleagues, employers or managers, past or present.
- Don't give up halfway through if you feel you are not doing well.

Questions you might be asked at interview:

- Can you talk us through your CV?
- Why did you leave your last job?
- Why do you wish to leave your current position?
- What were you doing in your last job?
- What did you like / dislike about your last job?
- What have you been doing since your last job?
- What are your greatest strengths / weaknesses?
- How do you handle stress or pressure?
- Can you describe a difficult situation at work and how you overcame it?
- What is your biggest accomplishment?

Looking for Jobs through Social Media

Social media sites like Facebook, LinkedIn and Twitter can help you find a job and connect with people who can help you develop your career. But it's important that the information you post online matches the information on your CV. You should also consider who may have access to your online data.

Here are some ways to use your online presence to support your job search.

Facebook

Most people use Facebook to connect with friends or people they know, but you can also use your public Facebook page for networking. Some companies have even created Facebook applications for career searches. The following are examples of useful job seeking Facebook apps.

Jobvite – this application matches your profile information to jobs in other networks. Companies and job seekers can target each other.
<https://www.jobvite.com/support/job-seeker-support/>

BranchOut – this career networking app lets you browse your friends on Facebook to see where they have worked. You can browse and share jobs that people in your career network have posted. Employers can post jobs for free. You can also import your LinkedIn profile to BranchOut so that you have a professional profile on Facebook. (More on LinkedIn on page 11).
www.facebookjob/branchout

CareerBuilder – with this app information such as your location and career interests are used to send you relevant and up-to-date job and internship postings. You can follow a link directly from the job listing to apply for it. You can also search by keyword, location and category.
<https://www.facebook.com/careerbuilder>

LinkUp – this app tells you about currently available jobs. Companies can automatically publish jobs from their corporate websites to their Facebook Fan pages. Recruitment and advertising agencies are also using this app.
<https://www.facebook.com/linkup/>

Rezoomo – this site helps you build an online and interactive CV that you can share with employers. Rezoomo helps jobseekers clearly display the key moments in their work and life experience through video, audio, documents, social media and more. It also contains a Career Hub that has advice and information for jobseekers.

LinkedIn

This professional social network is very useful when you are looking for work. Here are some of the ways you can use it for your job search.

- Personal Profile – this is the most important feature of LinkedIn. You can upload your education, career details, skills, expertise and interests for employers to see.

- Job Postings – employers can post jobs on the site.
- Email – you can send an email to everyone in your LinkedIn network.
- Blog Link – you can link your blog post to your LinkedIn profile. Every time you post a new blog, Blog Link updates your profile so people can see what you were writing about. The updated post also goes out in the weekly update emails to your connections.
- Endorsements – friends, colleagues and past colleagues can endorse your work skills and experiences and this will be visible to potential employers.

Employers can also answer a series of questions and it directs them to information on incentives available to hire a new employee who is currently on the Live Register, offer a work placement, or access skills training. Training Supports

Education and Training Board (ETB) Courses

Vocational Educational Committees (VECs) and FÁS Training Centres have merged to form 16 ETBs around Ireland. Courses that were previously offered by the VECs and FÁS are now offered by ETBs. These include full-time and part-time courses designed to improve your ability to get a job or, in some cases, to lead to further education. Guidance counsellors and information officers are available to offer you career and educational guidance, information and support.

ETB full-time courses

These are available at ETB Community Colleges, ETB Further Education and Training Colleges, ETB Adult Education Centres and outreach locations around the country.

- Post Leaving Certificate (PLC) courses: These are aimed at school leavers and adults, including people who are unemployed. They lead to awards at levels 5 and 6 of the National Framework of Qualifications (NFQ). Some courses also offer industry certification. You may be eligible for a grant from Student Universal Support Ireland (SUSI) or the Back to Education Allowance from Department of Social Protection.
- Vocational Training Opportunities Scheme (VTOS): This scheme leads to awards at NFQ levels 3 to 5 or to the Leaving Certificate. Courses last two years. You must be over 21 and have been getting a social welfare payment for more than 6 months. People made redundant may also be eligible for VTOS.
- Youthreach: If you are an early school leaver aged 15 to 20, this scheme will give you the opportunity to gain major awards at NFQ levels 3 to 5 so you can progress to further education, training, higher education or employment. The courses last two years. You will be paid a training allowance instead of social welfare. You may also get a childcare allowance.

ETB part-time courses

These are available at ETB Community Colleges, ETB Further Education and Training Colleges, ETB Adult Centres and outreach locations around the country.

- Back to Education Initiative (BTEI): This scheme is for people aged 17 and older, especially unemployed people and those without a Leaving Certificate. The aim is to help you gain skills so you can progress to further education, training, higher education or employment. The courses lead to awards at NFQ levels 1 to 6. These courses are free if you do not have a Leaving Certificate or if you get a means-tested social welfare payment.
- Adult Literacy and Basic Education: This programme can help you if you have difficulty with reading and writing, are over 16 years of age and are not in full-time education. There are courses in reading and writing, numbers and computers to help you build your confidence and move on to further education when you feel ready. The courses lead to awards at NFQ levels 1 to 3.

Training Supports

- Community Education: This gives adults, particularly those returning to education, the opportunity to study in their own community. Local community groups decide what courses are to be run. Often, the themes relate to citizenship and community development. Some of the courses may lead to NFQ awards.
- Night Classes: These range from hobby classes to professional courses. You must pay for these courses yourself.

Courses in ETB Training Centres (full-time and part-time)

- These centres offer the types of courses that used to be available in FÁS Training Centres and are aimed mainly at unemployed people. The courses lead to awards at NFQ levels 3 to 6 and, in some cases, may lead to industrial certification. If you are eligible for one of these courses, you will get a training allowance; travel, accommodation and meal allowances; kit and training materials; and a childcare subsidy, if relevant. You will not have to pay course fees or exam fees.
- Traineeships: These offer training for specific occupations and are supported by industry. They combine training centre and on-the-job training. These traineeships lead to major awards mostly at NFQ levels 5 and 6. Successful trainees may also get an industry recognised certificate which gives access to specific occupations in designated sectors.
- Specific Skills Training: These day courses are designed to help you learn new skills or update your existing skills.
- Apprenticeships: This is the traditional way to learn a trade such as Carpentry and Joinery or Motor Mechanics. Apprenticeships generally last four years and combine training on-the-job and in training centres.
- Community Training Centres: These offer training and related services to young people aged 16-21 who have no Leaving Certificate or Junior Certificate and who would like to gain a qualification.
- Specialist Training Provision: Specialist Training Providers in 47 centres country-wide to deliver training courses to people with disabilities who require more intensive support than would be available in non-specialist training provision.
- Local Training Initiatives: The Local Training Initiatives programme is for 18-25 year olds and targets specific groups that may experience barriers accessing employment or mainstream training and education programmes.

Jobseeker's Benefit

- Have enough social insurance (PRSI) contributions.

Jobseeker's Benefit is not means tested. The duration of Jobseeker's Benefit depends on the number of PRSI contributions you have made. People with 260 or more PRSI contributions paid will receive JB for 9 months and people with fewer than 260 PRSI contributions paid, will receive JB for 6 months. For more information, please visit www.welfare.ie/en/Pages/Jobseeker%27s-Benefit.aspx

Family Income Supplement (FIS)

FIS is a weekly tax-free payment for employees on low pay, with at least one dependent child. To qualify for FIS, your average weekly family income (after tax has been taken out) must be below a certain limit (based on your family size) and you must be working at least 19 hours per week or 38 hours per fortnight. Talk to a Case Officer at your local Social Welfare Office to see if you can get this additional payment. For more information on FIS, please visit www.welfare.ie/en/Pages/Family-Income-Supplement-FIS---SW-22.aspx

Back to Work Family Dividend

The Back to Work Family Dividend (BTWFD) scheme aims to help families to move from social welfare into employment. It gives financial support to people with children, who were getting jobseeker and one-parent family payments, who take up employment, increase their hours of employment or become self-employed. You will be paid the equivalent of any increases for qualified children that were being paid on your jobseeker or one-parent family payment for the first year in employment. This applies for families of up to a maximum of 4 children. Half that amount will be paid weekly for the second year.

Contact your Intreo centre or local Social Welfare office to get more information on the scheme or visit <https://www.welfare.ie/en/Pages/BTWFD.aspx>

Income/Enterprise Supports

Part-time Job Incentive Scheme

This scheme allows some long-term unemployed people to take up part-time work for less than 24 hours a week and qualify for a weekly payment instead of a Jobseeker's payment. If you qualify for this scheme, you may also qualify for Family Income Supplement. The part-time work must be likely to last at least two months.

If you have been in receipt of Jobseekers Benefit, Jobseekers Allowance or have been on a Community Employment Scheme for 12 months or more and you then enter into full-time paid employment or self-employment which is likely to last 4 weeks, you can keep the child portion of your payment for 13 weeks.

Jobseeker Allowance and Self-Employment

Self-employed people may apply for the means-tested Jobseeker's Allowance (JA) if their business ceases or if they are on low income as a result of a downturn in demand for their services. They must satisfy the means test in order to qualify for JA.

Short Term Enterprise Allowance

The Short Term Enterprise Allowance (STEA) will support you if you want to start your own business. To qualify you must be getting Jobseeker's Benefit (JB) and have paid 104 PRSI contributions. The allowance replaces your JB with a weekly payment of a similar amount for up to either 6 or 9 months depending on your JB entitlement.

Back to Work Enterprise Allowance (BTWEA)

If you are long-term unemployed and qualify for this payment, this can help you be self-employed while still being able to keep a social welfare payment for two years. You would get your full social welfare payment in the first year and three-quarters of it in the second year.

To qualify, you must set up a business that a Local Integrated Development Company or an Intreo Case Officer approved in writing, and be in receipt of one of the qualifying for at least 12 months.

Benefit of Work Ready Reckoner

The Benefit of Work Ready Reckoner is a useful tool if you are in receipt of a Jobseeker's Payment and looking to take up work. It gives you a rough comparison of what your current social welfare payment is relative to what you would get paid if you took up full-time work. To use the Benefit of Work Ready Reckoner tool, please log on to <http://bow.welfare.ie/en>

Start Your Own Business

Setting up your business

You can set up a business as a sole trader, as a partnership or as a limited company. The type of structure you choose depends on the kind of business you are running, with whom you will be doing business and your attitude to risk. For more information, please visit www.localenterprise.ie/

Sole trader: It is relatively simple to set up as a sole trader, but if your business fails, your personal assets such as your home could be used to pay your creditors (these are the people to whom you owe money). You must register as a self-employed person with the Revenue Commissioners. If you want to use a business name, you must register this with the Companies Registration Office (CRO) at www.cro.ie

Partnership: This is where two or more people agree to run a business in partnership with each other. The partnership agreement should be drawn up by a solicitor. The partners are jointly responsible for running the business and, if the business fails, all partners are jointly responsible for the debt.

Limited company: If you set up your business as a limited company, the business is a separate legal entity. If the company gets into debt, the creditors generally only have a claim on the assets of the company. The company must be registered with the CRO and the company reports and accounts must be returned to the CRO each year.

Funding

Local Enterprise Offices (LEOs) provide a range of financial supports to help with the set up or growth of small businesses employing up to 10 people. The funding depends on:

- the sector of the economy in which the business operates or intends to operate; and
- the size or proposed size of the business.

You cannot backdate grant support to cover money already spent setting up or expanding the business. For more information, please visit www.localenterprise.ie

Supporting Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) Online Tool

The Supporting SMEs Online Tool will tell you which government services and supports are available to you. What is JobsPlus?

JobsPlus is an employer incentive, which encourages and rewards employers who offer employment opportunities to those on the live register who satisfy certain conditions.

The Department of Social Protection pays the incentive to the employer monthly in arrears over a two year period. There are two levels of incentive €7,500 and €10,000.

An employer will be paid €7,500 over a two year period if they recruit and retain you if you are:

- unemployed for more than 12 months, but less than 24 months; or
- under 25 years of age (JobsPlus Youth) and unemployed for at least 4 months in the previous 6 months; or
- in receipt of the Jobseekers Allowance Transition Payment. (No qualifying period applies.); or

An employer will be paid €10,000 over a two year period if they recruit and retain in their employment a person who is unemployed for more than 24 months.

How do I apply?

Employees and employers can register online with the Department of Social Protection at www.jobsplus.ie to be approved as an eligible employee / employer.

The Department will process your request and, if you qualify, we will mail you a two-part JP1 form. If after an interview with a potential employer, the employer asks to see if you qualify for JobsPlus, you should show them the two-part JP1 form confirming that you are eligible.

Part A of the JP1 form will confirm that you qualify and the rate of payment to a prospective employer if they employ you. You should sign Part A of this part. The employer will complete Part B if they are going to employ you.

It is up to the employer to offer the position to the person they decide to be most suitable for their vacancy.

Where can I get more information?
