Teagasc Kildalton College

May 25 at 8:29 AM

A date for your diary, Teagasc Kildalton College will host a virtual event for prospective applicants to its Level 5 courses in agriculture, horticulture, and equine on Thursday the 4th of June.

The open day for the different courses will take place over the course of the day. At 2pm for Equine Studies, 4pm for Horticulture and 7pm for Agriculture. It is essential that any individual who wishes to join the open day registers at www.teagasc.ie for the virtual open day of most interest to them. Anyone can register for any or all of these events and get a complete feel for the college and campus life.

During the event, college staff will provide a live panel discussion which will be interspersed with video footage of the college educational facilities and farm enterprises. Viewers will then have the opportunity to post their questions during a virtual question and answer session. The College boasts impressive facilities and it is worth tuning in to view the campus and get your questions on progression, application, grants, courses or whatever answered on the 4th June.

The recent pandemic and restrictions in movement means that potential students cannot come to the college for a tour but we hope that this virtual open day will still provide lots of information about our courses and college life at Kildalton College. We are still taking applications for their Level 5 courses and this is the last opportunity for potential students to see the college before the closing of applications.
