ESB Networks' smart meter upgrade programme continues across Waterford

At ESB Networks, we have been connecting customers to Ireland's power network for the past 95 years. As part of the National Smart Metering Programme, we are continuing to install smart electricity meters in Waterford city and across county.

The upgrade to smart meters will bring many benefits to customers, the environment, and the economy, and is a key enabler of the Government's Climate Action Plan, specifically regarding microgeneration and the electrification of heat and transport. To date, over one million smart meters have been installed nationwide including approximately 17,000 in County Waterford.

Smart meters are putting customers in control of their energy usage and giving them the opportunity to: access more accurate bills; sign up to smart services and tariffs from their supplier; and they will shortly be able to access details of their electricity consumption from a new ESB Networks Customer Portal.

As the programme progresses, further new customer services will be made available, supporting our transition to a clean electric future, driven by renewable energy.

With 10,000 meters being installed every week, the programme is on track to have every home, farm and business using smart meters by the end of 2024. The work has been carried out on a phased area-by-area basis and a detailed rollout plan is in place.

The programme is being delivered in partnership with the Department of Environment, Climate and Communications (DECC), Commission for Regulation of Utilities (CRU) and other industry stakeholders.

Alice Taylor THE NANA

For your chance to win a copy of The Nana by Alice Taylor! Simply answer the question below and post your entries into Book Competition, Dungarvan Observer, Shandon, Dungarvan, Co. Waterford, X35 K688, on or before Tuesday, 15th November, 2022.

THE eagerly-awaited new book from Irish Book Award-shortlisted, multiple bestselling author Alice Taylor.

The Nana has a special place in the Irish family and in the Irish heart. She is the precious link between generations. In the past, Nana was the person who passed on family lore, traditions, and all aspects of homemaking, including baking and cooking, crafts, 'making do', taking care of animals, and enhancing everyday living.

Alice's memory of grandmothers goes back a long way to her own Nanas, both born in the 1860s.

Now Alice herself is a Nana, and with her quintessential empathy and warmth, she explores the old and the new, the Nana of yesteryear and today.

Alice Taylor grew up during the 1940s and 1950s on a farm along the Cork-Kerry border. She remembers the farm women coping and managing to sustain a good living in tough circumstances. Their main focus was to keep their family fed, clothed and educated, but their resourcefulness enabled them to weave a life that enriched everyone around them. They had skills honed by previous generations whose resilience inspired them and taught them a respect for the land, the environment and family heritage. The Nana, Alice's thirtieth book, is a celebration of Nanas and Grannies everywhere!

Question: How many books has Alice published?
