JOBALERT.IE

Aircraft Maintenance & Engineering Apprenticeship 2024 - Dublin & Shannon | Ryanair | Ireland - 12th December | JobAlert.ie

Ryanair is currently recruiting for candidates to join their 2024 Aircraft Maintenance and Engineering Apprenticeship in conjunction with SOLAS and Technology University Dublin (TUD) starting in September 2024.

This is a structured 4 year program including both hands on and classroom based learning in conjunction with SOLAS and TUD. You will need to commit to 4 years of studying hard for your B1 modules or B2 modules which are intense and do take dedication. Upon successful completion of this program, you will qualify for an EASA Part 66 Aircraft Maintenance Licence and eligible to certify Ryanair's 500+ aircraft fleet.

Based in Dublin or Shannon, you will be working with highly experienced aircraft engineers in one of our biggest engineering hangars responsible for providing engineering maintenance to our fleet of 565+ Boeing aircraft. You will also gain experience in airframe and avionics and in pre-into service checks completed on our new aircraft deliveries from Boeing as we continue to grow our fleet to over 750+ aircraft in the next 10 years. This is an excellent opportunity for successful candidates to work in an exciting, vibrant industry and obtain a recognised qualification in aircraft maintenance.

As part of the initial training, you will also be required to spend 9 months in Shannon for classroom-based learning before returning to base at Dublin or Shannon for hands on experience and studies in TUD.
